"Deck the Halls with Boughs of Holly, tra la la la la, la la la la" . . . rings to the rafters. Christmas is in the air as carollers stroll from party to party during the Yuletide. The choir of La Petite Ecole, shown above in white choir robes, entertain with carols at the New Orleans chapter Daughters of the American Revolution Christmas party at the Garden District home of Mrs. Lamar C. Mays. The Lapeyre quartetta of sisters also entertains a D. A. R. chapter, the Spirit of '76, at the Orleans Club. Dressed in Elizabethan costumes, a group of the Consular Corps Auxiliary sings carols at the group's annual Christmas coffee at the home of Mrs. Alastair G. Maitland, wife of the consular general of Great Britain.
